

This week (24th January 2022 – 28th January 2022)

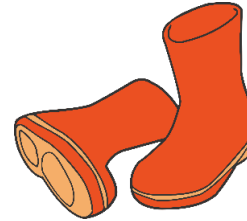

This week, it has been wonderful to see more children enjoying our 'Welly Wednesdays' and OPAL playtimes. They have been creating dens, hideouts and trails within our grounds.

In assembly this week we asked the question 'Should everyone learn sign language?' As part of this we discussed how Rose Ayling-Ellis has called for change regarding British Sign Language's legal status in the UK and also listened to a symphony by Beethoven.

We have also had our weekly swimming lessons for Class 4, and multi-skills for Classes 1 and 2. Also, Classes 3 and 5 have participated in their weekly health and fitness lessons.

A message from our Rights Respecting Committee:

This week, we recapped the 2 u's and the 3i's and decided that our next to learn would be 'Inalienable', which means you cannot give your rights away or sell them and nobody can take them away from you. We continued to talk about possible plans for the Queen's Jubilee, and we came up with lots of new ideas. Our first celebration will be the red, white and blue day on Friday 4th February.
